Sunwing spreads its wings to the west

The package holiday company that's quickly gaining a reputation for service and variety is enjoying a major expansion: this winter, Sunwing Vacations will be offering departures from a whopping nine cities in western and central Canada.

As part of the company's long-term expansion plan, affordable vacations and flights will be offered for the first time with Sunwing from Victoria, Vancouver, Abbotsford, Comox, and Edmonton (Calgary debuted last year); and in central Canada from Regina and Saskatoon (Winnipeg will be back for a second year). Destinations include a host of sunny choices in Mexico, Cuba, and the Dominican Republic.

There'll be a wide array of all inclusive resorts to choose from, many with the Sunwing "Club" designation. These resorts include many tempting extras for Sunwing passengers, from private express check-in to in-room gifts – all at no extra charge.

Most flights will be on board Sunwing Airlines, the all B737 fuel-efficient airline which has earned a name with Canadian travelers in the know as the carrier which includes a host of goodies which many other airlines now charge for, such as a welcoming glass of sparkling wine; a choice of hot meal; wine with meals; and inflight entertainment.

Sunwing is now accepting reservations for all destinations. For more information, visit www.sunwing.ca; for reservations, see your travel agent.
